The International Law Society seeks to promote awareness of the various legal issues that exist in the international community. Our main event each year is the Annual International Humanitarian Law Conference, taking place in the Winter semester. Our conference hosts many notable names as keynote and panel speakers, including internationally recognized scholars, Canadian ambassadors, and military officers. Our conference attracts a wide range of attendees each year, from students and educators to members of the local legal community. The ILS Executive Committee strives to choose conference topics that are engaging and timely- for example, our most recent conferences have focused on the Syrian refugee crisis and the effects of IHL on the environment. In addition, the ILS also hosts a number of guest speakers and social events throughout the year.

Members of the ILS Executive Committee are tasked with organizing the abovementioned events. They will also liaise with representatives from the Red Cross, and will have the opportunity to meet each of the honoured guest speakers.

We are looking forward to welcome three passionate and committed 1Ls. We are specifically looking for students that are interested in international law and that have previous leadership experience. To apply to be an executive member, please submit your resume and cover letter to unblaw.ils@gmail.com by September 20th.

If you have any questions, please email: unblaw.ils@gmail.com
